Thomson Tax & Accounting to Hold TaxStream 2008 User Conference

TaxStream Users to Gain In-depth Knowledge of Software Features to Manage Difficult Provisioning

CARROLLTON, TX – April 15, 2008 – Thomson Tax & Accounting, a segment of The Thomson Corporation, will hold its TaxStream 2008 User Conference in New Orleans on May 13 - 16. The conference is packed with in-depth provision software training sessions and networking opportunities.

“Our new customers and experienced TaxStream users will not want to miss this educational opportunity to sharpen their skills and learn how to get the most benefit from using our software,” said Kevin Brady, vice president and general manager for TaxStream, at Thomson Tax & Accounting.

TaxStream is a leading corporate tax provision software, providing streamlined workflow, document management, and audit trails for improved internal controls. The software system automates calculations, reporting, and data transfers between general ledger, provisions, and return systems, so corporate tax professionals can spend more time on tax planning.

The conference will also offer ample time for networking and social activities with peers in the tax profession and Thomson Tax & Accounting executives at the welcome reception, industry-specific user group sessions, and an evening at Mardi Gras World, New Orleans’ showcase of carnival.
